From the Pastor's Desk.....

A businessman who needed millions of dollars to clinch an important deal went to church to pray for the money. By chance he knelt next to a man who was praying for $100 to pay an urgent debt. The businessman took out his wallet and pressed $100 into the other man's hand. Overjoyed, the man got up and left the church. The businessman then closed his eyes and prayed, "And now, Lord..., now that I have your undivided attention...."

Often prayer is associated with asking God for help. We call this prayer of petition. Jesus tells us that we must be persistent in our prayers. We need to keep knocking on the door. Does that mean that God is hard of hearing or that he is indifferent to our needs? Of course not! Persistence in prayer is necessary because it reminds us of our utter dependence on God for all our needs. Prayer of petition is a wonderful lesson in humility. It teaches us to stand before God who is the author of our lives and the provider of all our needs. Ultimately we are not self-reliant. We depend totally on God.

"Lord, teach us to prayer" is itself a petition. "Lord, we don't know how to prayer. You teach us." The prayer that Jesus gives to his disciples is in turn a prayer consisting of litany of petitions. But it's a very short list. The Lord's Prayer is a distillation of the essential attitude of the disciple. The prayer directs us to the Father – as Jesus life and mission was wholly orientated to serving the Father. And then we pray that God's will be done.

Yes, there will be times when we need to pray to God for our personal petitions and needs. But the primary petition that we address as Jesus' disciples is that God's kingdom will come, not our own.

Peace & blessings,
Gerard

Persistence

The focus of the entire sequence of today's readings has to do with the image of God communicated by Jesus to his followers. Each of us is created in the image and likeness of God, meaning that, each of us, holds within a divine spark, a piece of infinity, and an ingrained knowledge of that unique dignity.

Our image of God is linked to the image of our soul. St Augustine says; The image of God is discerned in the acts and faculties and habits of the soul. The likeness of God is either a quality of this image, or it is the state of the soul as spiritual, not subject to decay or dissolution.

The first reading and the Gospel are about prayer – more specifically in the case of the Gospel with the attitude to God that true prayer requires. Our prayer life will be influenced by our image of God.

In the gospel Jesus instructs us to ask for what we need. He assures us that God is more than willing to give us what we need. However, for this to happen we must turn to God and humbly acknowledge our need.

The most obvious characteristic of prayer depicted in the readings for this Sunday is persistence. Neither Abraham nor the man in the gospel was deterred by any obstacle. They show that it is not so much that we persist in prayer in order to change God's mind as it is that we persist in order to discover what God's mind might be.

The salutariness of prayer is often found in the change that it effects in us, not in God. By persevering in genuine prayer we may come to acknowledge that all things are in God's hands, and that we can rest content to leave them there, trusting that the situation will be cared for as God sees fit. It seems trite to say that God hears all prayer and sometimes the answer is 'No!' It is better to say that God respects the freedom of people and will seldom intervene to change the way events unfold. Still, prayer can change the one who prays and also the one for whom the prayer is offered if only human need is recognised and divine solicitude is acknowledged.

JUBILEE OF MERCY

Healing Wounds

In this Holy Year, we look forward to the experience of opening our hearts to those living on the outermost fringes of society: fringes which modern society itself creates. How many uncertain and painful situations there are in the world today! How many are the wounds borne by the flesh of those who have no voice because their cry is muffled and drowned out by the indifference of the rich! During this Jubilee, the Church will be called even more to heal these wounds, to assuage them with the oil of consolation, to bind them with mercy and cure them with solidarity and vigilant care. #15

On Dialogue for Human Fulfilment:

Politics must not be subject to the economy, nor should the economy be subject to the dictates of an efficiency-driven paradigm of technocracy. Today, in view of the common good, there is urgent need for politics and economics to enter into frank dialogue in the service of life, especially human life.

On A Lighter Note:

A minister who was very fond of pure, hot horseradish always kept a bottle of it on his dining room table. He offered some to a guest, who took a big spoonful. When the guest finally was able to speak, he gasped, "I've heard many ministers preach hellfire, but you are the first one I've met who passed out a sample of it."

You have received the Spirit which makes us God's children,
and in that Spirit we call God our Father.
Alleluia!

GOSPEL IN A NUTSHELL Lk 11:1-13

This discourse on prayer can be divided into three separate but related segments: the Lord's Prayer (vv.1,4); an example of persistence prayer (vv.5,8); the assurance of being heard (vv.19-13).

'Father' suggests a relationship that is intimate and childlike. This prayer is intended for those who enjoy such a relationship because of Jesus, who called God 'Father' and who now invites his disciples to do the same. The plea for the coming of God's reign is a prayer for eschatological fulfilment. The request for God's forgiveness acknowledges that the one praying has forgiven others. All the petitions point to the continuing need for God in the present struggles of life. This entire discourse encourages the disciples to persevere in prayer.
